The Two Perspectives of Living With Cystic Fibrosis

Living with CF has been

A blessing in disguise because I have

Developed sincere friendships with my peers,

Built a stronger bond with my mom and dad,

Received the opportunity to spend more time

With myself, which, as an extraverted person,

Has boosted my comfort level in being introverted

The struggles of living

With CF on a daily basis include

Taking over 10 pills every time before I eat

Fearing being hospitalized from an infection

Waking up 30 min earlier than planned as a

Result of needing to do my lung treatments

Scheduling medication refills with pharmacies
